Countless opportunities for involvement at SJSU exist. Student government, service and academic clubs, and social friendship groups are just a few of the outlets for involvement.

After leading teams to three conference co-championships in his first six seasons as a NCAA Division I head coach, Ron Caragher accepted the head football coaching position at San José State University in December 2012.

Caragher comes to San José State from the University of San Diego (USD). The Toreros compiled a 44-22 win-loss record and were the 2007, 2011 and 2012 Pioneer Football League co-champions.

Twice, in 2007 and 2011, he was a nominee for the Eddie Robinson Coach of the Year Award established by The Sports Network to recognize the top head coach in the Football Championship Subdivision (FCS). After his third 9-2 win-loss season record at USD, he was named the 2011 Pioneer Football League Coach of the Year.

The new Spartans' coach agreed to a five-year contract with San José State.

"I'm very excited about the opportunity to lead the San José State football program. Having grown up in the San José area, I understand the rich tradition of Spartan Football - it's lineage of great coaches, terrific teams, and outstanding players," says Caragher, who remembers watching San José State games in Spartan Stadium as a youngster.

President Mohammad Qayoumi (left) and Athletics Director Gene Bleymaier welcome Ron Caragher to San José State University.

San José State is Caragher's fourth university in a coaching career that includes six bowl appearances between 1994 and 2006. The 1990 UCLA graduate got his first taste of college coaching as a graduate assistant at his alma mater in 1994. He was promoted to a full-time assistant's position in 1996. In seven seasons with the Bruins, he coached wide receivers, punters and kickers.

Before accepting the University of San Diego head coaching position, Caragher worked four years as the running backs coach and recruiting coordinator at the University of Kentucky. In 2006, the Wildcats posted an 8-5 record, was invited to a bowl game for the first time in seven years and concluded the season

Talk About Ron Caragher

"Ron Caragher stood out in a very strong field of applicants that see our recent success and achievements as a solid foundation for more great things to come from Spartan football in the near future. During his six years as a head coach, Ron clearly demonstrated he is a proven winner. He is a man of integrity and a leader who clearly understands what it takes for our program to take the next positive steps on the field, in the classroom and in the community." - Gene Bleymaier, San José State University director of athletics

"Wonderful, wonderful, wonderful guy and coach. I would stop back down there when I was in San Diego. Talked on the phone many times and just through players who were still there at USD... But that's great. Great hire by San José State."– Jim Harbaugh, San Francisco 49ers head coach

"...He's a coach that has character and integrity and knows the right things to do." – Terry Donahue, former UCLA head coach.

Terry Malley is in his fifth season on the San José State University football coaching staff. In 2013, he will be the tight ends coach and serve as the team's recruiting coordinator. He previously coached the Spartan quarterbacks, running backs and wide receivers in his first four seasons.

Last year, his wide receivers caught 236 passes - the third year in a row the position produced at least 200 receptions. All-WAC honorees Noel Grigsby and Chandler Jones were named to the Biletnikoff and Paul Hornung Award Watch Lists, respectively. To date, his players earned three all-conference honors, one freshman honorable mention All-America recognition and set seven San José State single-season and career records.

Terry was named head coach in 1985 and led the Broncos to a 47-39-1 win-loss record over eight seasons. Six of his eight teams were nationally-ranked among NCAA Division II schools.

Malley coached 27 all-conference players including long-time National Football League pros Brent Jones, a standout tight end for the San Francisco 49ers, and two-time Pro Bowl punter Bryan Barker. He was the Western Football Conference Coach of the Year in his first season directing Santa Clara to an 8-2-1 record and a conference championship.

His first experience in professional football came in 1994 when he was named the Director of Football Operations for the SaberCats, an Arena Football League expansion franchise. Malley added the duties of General Manager in 1995. In 1999, he returned to the field as the offensive coordinator after a mid-season coaching change and retained his general manager responsibilities through 2006.

As a player, Malley was a quarterback, team captain and four-year letterwinner for Santa Clara during the 1972 through 1975 seasons. The 1976 Santa Clara University graduate majored in business management. He and his wife, Leslie, have three children – Christina and sons, Patrick and Ryan.

From its inception in 1999, the Mountain West has been committed to excellence in intercollegiate athletics, while promoting the academic missions of its member institutions. Progressive in its approach, the MW continues to cultivate opportunities for student-athletes to compete at the highest level, while fostering academic achievement and sportsmanship. Now in its 15th year, the MW has been assertive in its involvement with the NCAA governance structure and has taken a leadership role in the overall administration of intercollegiate athletics.

The Mountain West has marked several achievements over its first 14 years of existence, most notably becoming the first to establish a sports television network dedicated solely to an intercollegiate athletic conference (The Mtn.). The Mountain West also was the first to experiment with the coaches' challenge in the college football instant replay system, and was the first non-automatic-qualifying BCS conference to participate in four BCS bowl games, winning three. Additionally, the Mountain West was the first conference to have a member institution with No. 1 overall picks in both the NFL and NBA drafts in the same year (Utah's Alex Smith and Andrew Bogut, respectively in 2005). With San Diego State's Stephen Strasburg claiming the No. 1 pick in the 2009 MLB Draft, the Mountain West is one of two conferences to have the No. 1 selection in each of the NFL, NBA and MLB drafts since the MW was founded in 1999. In 2011-12, the Mountain West was among the first conferences to implement a league-wide state-of-the-art basketball instant replay system.

The Mountain West is noted for its geographic diversity. Some of the most beautiful terrain and landscapes in the nation can be found within Mountain West boundaries, including the majestic Rocky Mountain range, which borders five MW institutions (Air Force, Boise State, Colorado State, New Mexico and Utah State). The high plains of Wyoming (elevation 7,220 feet – the highest Division I campus in the nation) contrast with the desert cities of Las Vegas and Reno, home to UNLV and Nevada, respectively, while Fresno State, San Diego State and San José State add a West coast influence with their locations in Central, Southern and Northern California. The inclusion of the Hawai'i football program extends the Mountain West footprint to the beautiful islands in the Pacific Ocean.

Did You Know?

San José State was scheduled to play two games in Hawaii to end the 1941 season. The Spartans were in Honolulu when the attack on Pearl Harbor occurred on December 7, 1941. Many players immediately joined the local police force or the armed services. The games against the University of Hawai'i on December 13 and Willamette College of Oregon on December 16 were cancelled.

Did You Know?

In 1981 and 1987, San José State was the "mythical champion" of the San Francisco Bay Area. The Spartans defeated both California and Stanford in those two seasons.

San José State University, Silicon Valley's metropolitan university, is pre-eminent in broadly educating leaders and professionals for an increasingly complex and global society.

Located in the heart of the Silicon Valley, this university has aided the development of the computer industry and the resulting technological advances in our nation by providing the largest source of engineering, science and business graduates to Silicon Valley companies.

Graduating about 7,000 students annually, San José State University also provides the professional infrastructure for the region – from teachers to social workers to artists to law enforcement officers to nurses. The terms, "leaders and professionals," describe not just the types of graduates who earn their degrees, but also the roles they assume in their communities and in their fields of endeavor.

Tree-lined promenades accentuate the beauty of the San José State campus.

San José State University's place in history is well-established. Founded in 1857, it was the first public institution of higher education on the West Coast. From its humble beginnings as a normal school to train teachers for the developing frontier, it has matured into a master's university offering 191 bachelor's and master's degrees.

The university's 27,000 students study in eight fully-accredited colleges: Applied Sciences and the Arts, Business, Education, Engineering, Humanities and the Arts, Science, Social Sciences and Social Work.

One strength of the academic program is the broad general education curriculum that brings common elements -- critical thinking, writing and communication skills, and cultural pluralism -- to diverse studies. Academic strength also is seen in the university's nationally-recognized programs. Examples include the School of Music, the School of Art and Design, the School of Journalism and Mass Communications, the School of Nursing and the School of Library and Information Science.

More than 7,000 graduates each year apply their San Jose State degrees to a professional career.

In each discipline, quality teaching remains a priority. Tenured faculty teach introductory as well as advanced courses with an emphasis on small classes. Learning facilities include computer-equipped classrooms, the Western world's only undergraduate nuclear science facility and North America's largest Beethoven Center. Focusing on applied research, faculty receive a growing number of contracts and grants each year. From Moss Landing Marine Research Laboratory to the NASA Ames Research Center, faculty are exploring everything from the depths of the ocean to the surface of Mars.

San José State University also finds strength in its diversity. For first-generation students, it is a gateway to economic independence and social mobility. It is also an incubator of cultural and intellectual development and an opportunity for lifelong learning. Students range in age from first-time freshmen to college transfers to professionals seeking additional education. Student demographics – with ethnic pluralism – provide the benefits of multiple cultures and diverse student interests and activities. From residence life to athletic teams to social clubs to co-op jobs – student activities meet the needs of this diverse student body.

Gene Bleymaier was named San José State University's director of athletics on May 24, 2012 and oversaw one of the University's best years of overall athletics success in his first year with the Spartans.

In 2012-13, the Spartans won 11 football games in a season for the first time since 1940, were listed in the final BCS standings for the first time in school history at #24, won the 2012 Military Bowl and were voted #21 nationally in the season-ending Associated Press and USA Today/ESPN coaches polls. San José State won Western Athletic Conference championships in women's swimming, women's tennis and softball. The Spartans finished an all-time best 106th out of the 295 NCAA Division I programs that scored points in the final 2012-13 Learfield Sports Directors Cup standings that measure overall program success in national competition.

As one of the most-experienced athletics directors working for a Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) school, Bleymaier was selected as one of 10 Division I directors of athletics to serve on a new national advisory council to NCAA President Mark Emmert.

Bleymaier came to San José State with an impressive array of personal and professional accomplishments from 30 years as Boise State University's athletics director.

His foresight and vision led to Boise State changing conferences three times during his tenure. Once a member of the Big Sky Conference, Boise State moved to the Big West Conference in 1996, the Western Athletic Conference (WAC) in 2001 and the Mountain West Conference in 2011.

Bleymaier directed the Broncos to comprehensive success in conference and national competition. Boise State posted thirty-three top-25 finishes in nine different sports. Most notable and easily recognizable is Boise State football's ascension to a national brand. The Broncos are the only football program from 2009 through 2011 to finish in the top-10 each year in the Associated Press and coaches' final polls. Since 2004, Boise State has six top-10 finishes in the Bowl Championship Series standings and was as high as sixth in 2009.

In 10 years of WAC membership, the Broncos were the only three-time winner of the Commissioner's Cup signifying the best overall athletics program in the conference. There were conference championships in football, women's gymnastics, women's swimming and diving, men's basketball, women's basketball, women's soccer, women's tennis and women's cross country – all sports San José State offers – and men's tennis and men's indoor and outdoor track and field.

Boise State coaches earned 31 Coach of the Year awards and Bronco student-athletes received conference Athlete of the Year awards 35 times and 68 All-America honors over a 10-year span.

Academically, the NCAA recognized the Boise State football program with a 2010 Public Recognition Award for achieving an Academic Progress Rate (APR) score that ranked in the top-10 percent for all NCAA Division I football-playing schools. Consistently, the Broncos produced the highest APR score among WAC football playing members. The Boise State student-athlete population produced a five-semester run of cumulative grade-point averages over 3.00 per semester.

Bleymaier can take credit for conceiving Boise State's unique blue artificial turf for Bronco Stadium. Installed in 1986, it is one of the most distinguishing playing surfaces in the United States and now is imitated in various ways throughout the country. His fundraising prowess and vision led to the creation of enhanced practice and competition facilities for Boise State football, track and field, men's and women's basketball, softball, tennis, and women's gymnastics over a 15-year span. New sports medicine, student-athlete support services and strength and conditioning facilities also were constructed under his watch.

In August 2013, Boise State's new football facility will open its doors as the Gene Bleymaier Football Complex honoring his accomplishments at the University.

He was the driving force in the creation of the post-season Humanitarian Bowl game. Now known as the Famous Idaho Potato Bowl, the Boise-hosted game now is in its 17th year attracting top college football teams.

During his Boise State tenure, Bleymaier was recognized nationally for exemplary leadership. He received the 2011 Bobby Dodd Athletics Director of the Year and 2008 Astro Turf Athletics Director of the Year Awards. In 2009, he was one of five finalists for the Street and Smith's Sports Business Journal and Sports Business Daily Athletic Director of the Year Award and the only nominee from a non-automatic qualifying Bowl Championships Series (BCS) conference school.

The 1975 UCLA graduate was a three-year letter-winning tight end on the Bruins' 1972 through 1974 football teams. Bleymaier was a third-team All-Pacific 8 Conference selection and was the 1974 recipient of the UCLA Alumni Association's Outstanding Senior Award.

His college coaches were legendary San José State alum Dick Vermeil and Pepper Rodgers.

Bleymaier earned a law degree from Loyola Law School in 1978. He served as a UCLA assistant athletics director before joining the Boise State athletics department in 1981 as an assistant athletics director. In 1982, he was promoted to the Broncos' athletics director.

He and his wife, Danell, have four adult children, Maribeth, Joe, Claire and Tom; and a granddaughter, Madeleine.

More than 3,000 students from 50-plus elementary and middle schools in San José were After-School All-Stars beneficiaries.

In 2011, Poch completed course work in the Sports Management Institute – a collaboration of the Universities of Southern California, Texas, Michigan, Notre Dame and North Carolina. The Sports Management Institute provides a specialized executive management program for sports professionals.

No matter what the price may be!

Onward for Sparta noble and true
Fight hard in everything you do!

And so we'll Fight! (RAH!) Win! (RAH!)
March onward down the field and we will win the day!

The skyline of downtown San Jose

City of San José

Situated at the hub of Silicon Valley is San José – the third largest city in California and the 10th largest in the nation. San José, strategically located at the sunny, southern tip of the San Francisco Bay, is surrounded by rolling hills and striking mountains. San José's vibrant and growing downtown is the setting for San José State University and the focus for important financial, commercial and arts communities.

Regional growth and stability are complemented by an active cultural life. San José is the home of the Silicon Valley High Technology and the Children's Discovery museums, the San José Museum of Art, San José Symphony, numerous galleries and arts centers, Opera San José, the Winchester Mystery House and more professional and community theater groups.

Light rail and historic trolley lines, the 18,000-seat HP Pavilion at San José, convention facilities, shops and a diverse night scene add to the excitement. Reflecting the cultural richness is a wide range of restaurants.

The mild climate encourages an active and casual lifestyle. There are more than 100,000 acres of land for biking, rollerblading and other outdoor activities. Boasting nearly 300 days of sunshine and an average summer temperature of 74 degrees, San José symbolizes the best California has to offer. The region's 1.6-million residents enjoy recreational and entertainment opportunities year-round. Within a short drive are San Francisco, beaches from Santa Cruz to Carmel, the California coastal redwoods, Lake Tahoe and Yosemite National Park.
